Stick around.

One of the best things about growing up in this area is that you never have to leave it. Because its economy is growing by leaps and bounds, producing new job opportunities in both business and agriculture. Too, you'll find technical and higher education facilities second to none. So, come graduation time, stick around. You won't find a better place to live, work and play.

Welcome to

Clemson

We are most pleased to have you as guests today on the beautiful, spacious, and expanding campus of Clemson University.

Here you will find a dynamic university hard at work on our nation's most vital tasks: the formal education of our young men and women; conducting a very complex multi-million-dollar research program; and directing the many programs of public service activities which are a part of this land-grant university.

To insure its ability to meet its mission and the ever increasing demands placed upon it, Clemson University has, in little more than a decade, added more than $45 million of teaching and research facilities. The academic qualifications of the Clemson student have been significantly up-graded by the adoption of a selective admission policy. And too, the quality of Clemson faculty and teaching has greatly improved even though the number of faculty has doubled in size the past 10 years.

These essential developments, together with a program of constantly up-dating all curricula and the dramatic expansion of the graduate program, have given Clemson University a position of great academic respect throughout the nation.

A bit over 100 years ago this property was the estate of John C. Calhoun, one of the great statesmen of his era. Just over 75 years ago his son-in-law, Thomas Green Clemson, willed the estate to the state of South Carolina for the establishment of "a technical institution." A graduate of Clemson's first class (1896), Dr. B. Rhett Turnipseed, still lives at Statesville, N. C.

Today Fort Hill, the Calhoun and Clemson home, stands preserved in the center of the campus. Less than a mile away, on the site of Mr. Clemson's stable boy's cabin, is the new multi-million-dollar Robert Muldrow Cooper Library, the academic focal point of the university. The new building under construction adjacent to this beautiful stadium is the J. C. Littlejohn Coliseum. Other new facilities, representing a total cost in excess of $10 million, are either under construction or will be before the end of the year.

We urge you this weekend—or anytime—to visit the academic and research activities that surround you here. We are confident you will be amazed by and proud of the scope and excellence of Clemson University.

And may you return often.

HEY... look us over

Academic and physical development have become an exciting way of life for Clemson University, where the campus is being rapidly transformed by a vigorous, $50-million building program. The expansion is aimed toward the mid 1970's when Clemson's student body is expected to reach 10,000.

Construction stretches from the shadows of the towering, new high-rise residence hall on East Campus to the red earth across from Death Valley where the J. C. Littlejohn Coliseum is taking shape.

Other projects either now under construction or scheduled to begin soon are a second high-rise dormitory, an additional dining hall, a new student health center, a classroom and faculty complex for arts and sciences, and a graduate engineering research laboratory.

While visiting our campus today we invite you to become a sidewalk superintendent. Look us over. We think you will be proud of our dynamic growth. We are.

Frank Howard, Athletic Director and Head Football Coach

150th Outshines 100th . . .

The 13-12 loss to Georgia Tech last year was the 100th for Coach Frank Howard in his coaching career, but overshadowing this was his 150th triumph.

This came against Maryland, 14-10, in the eighth game of the season. Howard is now one of five active coaches in the nation to achieve this plateau, and according to his standards, "it's a lot harder to win 100 than it is to lose 'em."

But he is all by himself for having the longest tenure of any coach. He is now in his 28th year at one institution, and only one other coach (Warren Woodson at New Mexico State) has more coaching years than Howard.

Last year Howard saw his Tigers win their fourth Atlantic Coast Conference title and he was named ACC coach-of-the-year. In the ACC's 13-year history, Clemson has an 82-56-2 overall record and 53-36-1 with league teams.

The Century Club . . .

Thirteen coaches who are at major football institutions (as classified by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau) have now won 100 or more games in their careers. The "Century Club" saw two members enter last year and four retire. Coach Frank Howard is second-ranked for the most years as a head coach (behind Warren Woodson of New Mexico State). However, Howard has the longest tenure in the nation, now in his 28th year at Clemson. Howard ranks fifth in the nation for the most wins and is one of five who has won over 150 games. It's Different Here

Are college football games everywhere pretty much the same?—the crowds?—the bands?—the cheers? Sure there's a similarity—but it's different here. Each game has its own distinctive flavor—spirit—tradition. So it is with uniforms we manufacture. Into them go many intangibles of experience and skill. This is why an increasing number of Units are scoring with "Uniforms of Distinction" by

All of us . . . individuals, cities, counties, industry . . . must join in the battle to check pollution of our streams. If we continue to foul our supply of water, all of us will suffer.

Realizing this great need, Pomona Pipe Products has broadened its services in the sanitation field. In addition to the sanitary sewer pipe which we have been selling for generations, we now carry a complete line of other sanitation equipment, such as sewage pumping stations, treatment plants and chlorination equipment.

Our technical staff is ready to help with all phases of sanitation planning. We welcome an opportunity to be of assistance on any problem which you may have regarding waste disposal. Call Anti-Pollution Headquarters: Pomona Pipe Products, Greensboro, North Carolina. Phone (919) 299-3131.

Teddy and the NCAA

by BOB HOOBING

Sports Editor, Boston Traveler

THE FACE of Robert W. Maxwell changed the complexion of American football. It forced adoption of the forward pass and led to the formation of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

"Tiny" Maxwell wasn't that tough to look at—usually.

But when Penn got through pulverizing the 240-pound Swarthmore lineman in the third game of the 1905 collegiate season, his face was a bloody pulp. A photographer snapped an historic picture as "Tiny" stumbled off the field.

That picture set off a White House explosion.

Football already was in trouble. When tackling below the waist had become legal, the game changed from a wide open combination of soccer and rugby to massed mayhem. Without a neutral zone at the line of scrimmage, the ball snap set off a flurry of slugging, shoving and clawing.

Injuries were numerous. Some schools had already dropped the sport and others talked of it.

Penn's masters of mass momentum beat Swarthmore 11-4 by mercilessly pounding the latter's strong man, Maxwell, who nonetheless lasted the full 70 minutes.

The aftermath picture came to the attention of President Theodore Roosevelt who proved his temper was as strong as his reputation as a rugged individualist. He became so angered at the sight of Tiny's bruised features in the newspapers that he issued an ultimatum to football authorities to eliminate rough play immediately or have the game abolished by his own executive order.

Roosevelt told a hastily summoned mid-season White House conference of Big Three representatives (Harvard, Yale, Princeton) the fate of the game was up to them, adding:

"Brutality and foul play should receive the same summary punishment given to a man who cheats at cards."

Chancellor Henry McCracken of New York University asked Harvard President Charles William Eliot to take the lead in bringing about reforms. The latter, replying he had no jurisdiction, took the opportunity to comment:

"Deaths and injuries are not the strongest argument against football; that cheating and brutality are profitable is the main evil."

The season lumbered on—painfully. Penn completed its second straight unbeaten campaign at the cost of broken legs to three regulars.

California President Wheeler saw Stanford hack up his team with force plays and wired officials in Chicago: "The game of football must be entirely made over or go." When quick action was not forthcoming, Cal and Stanford joined Columbia and Northwestern in dropping the sport.

At the same time the Chicago Tribune issued a 1905 casualty list: 18 dead, 159 seriously injured.

That did it.

A December 9 meeting at New York University called by Chancellor McCracken and involving 13 eastern schools agreed on some reforms. On December 28 at the same site 62 schools participated, forming the Intercollegiate Athletic Association of the United States (to become the NCAA in 1910). Among the acts was formation of a new rules committee, headed by Capt. Palmer Pierce of West Point.

It was Jan. 12, 1906, when the old rules group, led by Walter Camp and the Pierce delegation met and merged. From their deliberations came:

Legalization of the forward pass; lengthening the required yardage for a first down from 5 to 10 yards; shortening the game from 70 to 60 minutes; addition of an official; creation of a neutral zone between opposing lines; vast strengthening of the rules against foul play.

The forward pass rule was suggested by Penn's John Bell and Navy's Paul Dashiell. Yale, St. Louis and Wesleyan were among the schools to claim using it first. But "the establishment" died hard.

It took upstart Notre Dame's visit to West Point in 1913 to demonstrate what passing could really do in revolutionizing and opening up the game. Without Maxwell, none of it might have happened. Tiny became a noted football official and sports writer. He had a trophy named in his honor.

Yet Maxwell may never have done anything more important than have his picture taken that blood-stained afternoon in Philadelphia!

The N. C. State Series

The two "deans" of Atlantic Coast Conference coaches meet today, and it's highly doubtful that it'll be an ordinary game. Much is at stake this afternoon.

Coach Earle Edwards of N. C. State sends his Wolfpack into their final game trying to regain some of the national ranking lost in last week's close loss to Penn State. Also, possibly a bowl bid rests on the outcome.

And then both Edwards and Coach Frank Howard of the Tigers have a conference championship staring them in the face.

Clemson is the defending champ and it was the Wolfpack who delayed the Tigers clinching the crown a week last year with a 23-14 win. A win over South Carolina gave Clemson all the marbles in the final game in '66.

State and Clemson are used to winning championships. The Tigers have taken the title four times outright and tied for another. The 'Pack has two clear-cut claims and two deadlocks.

And it's up for grabs with these two again this year. There's a possibility of a three-way tie should Clemson win today and lose next Saturday to South Carolina. A victory by State today would leave only second place to be settled next week in Columbia.

Although Howard has more years head coaching than the other seven ACC coaches combined, it is Edwards who has longevity runner-up honors.

Both coaches graduated from college in 1931, Howard from Alabama, Edwards from Penn State. And each has made coaching his career.

They both like to jaw back and forth at each other. They've traded telegrams almost every Friday this season wishing each other good luck. After Howard's Rock was installed in Death Valley before the Wake Forest game, Howard received a telegram from Edwards prior to the Georgia game which said: "Suggest you let players rub your head. In comparison, Howard's Rock is like sponge rubber."

Actually, they're the closest of friends and neither minds speaking his peace when it comes to something they believe in strongly.

In their personal battles, they've faced each other 10 times and Howard leads in wins, 6 to 4. But seven times there has been nine or less points separating at the final outcome.

This one should be a gem dandy. It's the "rubber game" for the seniors on each side.

HARPER S. GAULT '28 -- PRESIDENT ELECT

CLEMSON UNIVERSITY

The difference between success and greatness is that intangible margin called extra effort. The winning miler runs as fast as he knows he can — then a little faster. The great football team blocks and tackles as it's taught in practice — then adds that extra something called desire.

A great university, too, must do something extra. A state-supported university like Clemson could probably operate indefinitely though modestly — with wise and prideful legislative funds alone, but greatness demands more.

During the past decade, the Clemson Alumni Association, though still in its infancy, has provided more than a million dollars toward this margin of greatness for Clemson. As a matter of fact, it would not be wrong to say that, today, the Clemson alumni program touches the lives of every student and every alumnus of Clemson University.

JOE SHERMAN '34 -- DIR. ALUMNI RELATIONS

TOMMY THORNHILL '48 -- NATIONAL PRESIDENT

Alumni Association

The Association has sunk its roots deep into this business of education. Sponsored programs include grants to the graduate school, university student government, permanent endowment, faculty research, the Robert Franklin Poole undergraduate scholarships, memorial scholarships, alumni professorships and the alumni service program.

Clemson University is engaged in the sober task of finding and storing, organizing and most importantly, of teaching — the transmission of knowledge to the generations to come. It is within the reach of every alumnus to become a significant force in fulfilling this task. An annual investment in Clemson through the Clemson Alumni Loyalty Fund will make you a partner in the faith and future of your Alma Mater.

Managers Work Long Hours Preparing For Game . . .

Regardless of how big the schedule is, how far the team travels or what the final score is, no football squad could operate without an efficient staff of managers who work long hours before and after the games with an endless list of chores to be performed. Clemson's staff of managers are, left to right, Doug Elliott, Jack Singletary, Bruce Brown, Tommy Shell (head manager) and Denny Black. Absent was Hamp McManus.

What The Fellowship of Christian Athletes Means To Me

Through the efforts of Otis Nelson of the YMCA and coach Art Baker of the Clemson coaching staff, a chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes was formed on the campus several years ago. Members of the Clemson FCA chapter hold regular meetings and nearly every week during the school year some of the members are visiting and talking with various youth and church organizations. What the Fellowship of Christian Athletes means to five Clemson football players is expressed below.

Being in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes has given me a chance to work with other people. Through hearing their thoughts and beliefs, I have become better able to understand myself and my beliefs. The FCA has given me a chance to examine the linkage between athletics and religion. It has shown me how to use athletics in a crusade for religion, and how to use religious faith for strength in athletics. — JACKY JACKSON

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes gives to me the opportunity to strengthen and share my love of God and His teachings with other athletes. To me, Christianity has a place in every phase of our lives. As a human being, as an athlete, as a student, I fall far short of the high ideals of Christianity. The FCA gives me the opportunity to gain strength in my faith through fellowship with others who desire to live in the Christian way of life.

— CHARLES TOLLEY

I feel privileged to be a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Although I know I am far from perfect, I try to be the type person I know God wants me to be. I know that without God's will, I could not be an athlete, for he decides all. The FCA keeps me close to my religion and I feel that it can be a help to anyone who participates. — JOHN CAGLE

I feel that the Fellowship of Christian Athletes is the best organization I've ever been a part of because it gives me the opportunity to have Christian fellowship with other athletes, and it also brings me closer to God while at school. It is also a great thrill for me to speak to other groups and churches about the joy I have received from accepting Christ as my Savior.

— BILLY AMMONS

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes has really been an inspiration to me. Through the FCA I have found that we, as Christians and athletes, have had a great influence on the lives of many young people, simply by showing Christian-like qualities on and off the field. The FCA has made me a better athlete, student and Christian.

Goodrich

Kingman

Clemson Radio Network . . .

The Clemson Football Network gets off the ground for its 14th time this season and another banner year is anticipated.

Bill Goodrich, sports director of WFBC Radio and TV in Greenville, will handle the play-by-play for the third straight year; and doing the color portion of the broadcast this season is Jim Kingman, a member of the Clemson family now, and an ex-sportscaster in his own right.

The Clemson network is operated wholly by the athletic department and has been one of the most successful anywhere. It is one of the nation's largest collegiate networks, having averaged slightly over 50 stations a game for the past six seasons.

Goodrich came to Greenville and the Clemson Football and Basketball Networks from Jackson, Miss., where he had furnished play-by-play to as many as 275 stations on one broadcast on the Ole Miss games. He did the action of the Rebel games for seven years.

A 22-year veteran in radio and 12 years in television experience, Goodrich is no stranger to South Carolina sports fans.

While located with WORD in Spartanburg in the early '50's he did Wofford football and basketball and also play-by-play of the Spartanburg Peaches of the old Tri-State League. Later moving to WSPA-TV for two years, he handled the Clemson football films during 1956 and 1957 and broadcast the '55-'56 Tiger basketball games.

Kingman, a native of Seneca and the son of a Methodist minister, graduated from Winnsboro High School and started his radio work with WSSC in Sumter where he did the Edmonds High School and Shaw Air Force Base games.

He worked for a brief stint with WGAC in Augusta, Ga., before going with WSPA in 1958 where he remained until 1964. While with the Spartanburg station he broadcast the Spartanburg High and Wofford College basketball and football games. For the past three years he broadcast Dorman High games over WORD.

He came to Clemson in January, 1967, as assistant radio and TV editor of the Agricultural Communications Dept.

1967-68 Basketball Outlook . . .

No coach in the nation faces what Bobby Roberts of Clemson does this fall. He has lost four of his starters from the 17-8 team of a year ago and there are only four lettermen returning.

This may sound good on paper, but when you consider that one had a scoring average of 10.2 and the other three were 0.6, 0.4 and 0.8, it puts an entirely different outlook on the season.

Richie Mahaffey, the last of the famed brothers to play for the Tigers, is the only starter back. He played in all 25 games last winter, starting the last 23. He was third in field goal percentage (45.5), second in rebounds (7.8) and fourth in scoring (10.2).

Who will join this lone returnee? Possibly Trip Jones at forward and Curt Eckard at center. Each, like Mahaffey, is a junior. Sophomore Butch Zatezalo should be one of the guards with the other slot being filled by either Dave Demsey or Mike Faer.

Apparently Ronnie Welch will not return to school. He led last year's frosh in field goal percentage (52.4) and in rebounds (15.5) and was second in scoring (15.3). Roberts was depending on his 6-8, 240-pound frame.

Zatezalo led the frosh with a 22.4 average and hit 87 of 100 free throws while Faer was 52 for 57 from the charity stripe.

Robert wakes up at night in a cold sweat thinking of his dilemma. Jim Sutherland—gone. Randy Mahaffey—gone. Joe Ayoob—gone. Ken Gardner—gone. Hank Channell—gone. Walt Ayers—gone. Richie Mahaffey—returning.

A tough 23-game schedule awaits the thinly-shod Tigers, but Roberts remains optimistic.

The Bard of Des Moines

by HAROLD KEITH

Sports Information Director, University of Oklahoma

Trumpets blew the fanfare
Whistle blew for play
Halfback blew the kickoff
We always start that way.

BERT McGRANE probably scribbled that with a ball point on the back of an old envelope wherever he was when the idea seized him, then batted it out on his 12-year-old Underwood in the basement of his two-story farm home located eight miles from downtown Des Moines, Iowa.

Who's Bert McGrane? He's the former football writer for the Des Moines Register (for 41 years) who is now retired from newspapering but stays enthusiastically active as permanent secretary and poet laureate of the Football Writers of America, an organization of 1,200 sports writers from all over the nation.

"The Dam Sec," as McGrane calls himself, edits "The Fifth Down," a mimeographed publication composed of humorous odds and ends mailed during the college football season to each member of the FWA clan.

Best part by far of "The Fifth Down" are McGrane's amusing little ballads dealing with all aspects of the college game. Like this one:

They all raced after the fumble,
He captured it after a dive
The rest of the pack piled onto his back
He's cold and inert, but alive.

McGrane's verse makes frequent use of the symbol "&." He says briefly isn't the reason. "I use it because it seems to tie in with my notion that my efforts are just a motley assortment of trifles anyway," the Bard of Des Moines modestly explains. Like this tribute to the lowly lineman:

Halfbacks get big headlines
Coaches get fat cheek
Linemen pick up scabs & scars
North and south of neck.

Like everybody, he enjoys poking fun at referees and umpires:

Here's tip to officials
From ocean to ocean
Whenever in doubt
Just call backfield in motion.

Coaches and the uncertainty of their continued employment are the subject of many of McGrane's stanzas. Like these two:

Luckless coach who Failed to win
Lost his head just South of chin.

When howling alumni
Confer with the President
Coach who's a loser is Soon a non-resident.

Football games are won in winter by assistant coaches and alumni who work like stevedores recruiting top-notch high school players, as this verse recognizes:

He was famed as a builder of men
He triumphed again and again
But without his recruiter
This same master tutor Might never have got where he's been.

College athletic business managers love this ballad. Many of them have framed it and posted it on their walls:

The best of the linemen get clobbered
& the life of a back ain't so hot
But what of the guy to whom they apply
For tickets he simply ain't got?

Lady spectators, and what husbands hold is the chief reason for their attendance at games, aren't neglected by the Hoosier Bobby Burns:

Sweetie-pie with dreamy eye
Disregards the score
Makes a point to ease the joint
For what the ladies wore.

The shifting pattern of college football romance also rates a rhyme:

He was a helluva halfback
& she was the gorgeous sort
She gave him the brush &
Developed a crush for
A guy who hated the sport.

Here McGrane sketches the patient substitute and his fate:

He sat on the bench three seasons
He worried, he squirmed & he sweat
If he hadn't received his diploma
He might have been sitting there yet.

After living through four wars,
McGrane knew their effect on college football:

The coach had a dream of a miracle team

He hardly could wait until autumn
He had talent galore
But along came a war
The draft board came over & got
'em.

Here's his caricature of the heart-breaking penalty:

Joe Zilch ran 80 from scrimmage
As rugged a run as you'll see
But the ref caught somebody holding & whistled it back to the three.

McGrane even dashed off a pome about nicknames:

Bruins, Gators, Coyotes, Cats
Bulldogs, Lions, Steers get votes
But no football team, alas
Ever chose the nickname Goats.

And this whimsy on the importance of concentration:

He took the ball, he hit the hole
He galloped toward the distant goal
Above him, watching, was his doll.
He sneaked a look & dropped the ball.

He can even make fun of his own profession as this final iambic shows:

Country's fulla experts
Putting teams on top
Teams are fulla dynamite
Experts fulla hop.

Washington Irving once wrote, "Honest good humor is the oil and wine of merry meeting, and there is no jovial companionship equal to that where the jokes are rather small, and the laughter abundant." McGrane's verse gets awfully close to that.

MARK OF EXCELLENCE

Our Sports Department

A look of bold innovation and the feel of competitive excitement set Chevrolet sport models apart from the pack for '68.

Revolutionary styling.

Looking like a dream car come to life, the '68 Corvette Sting Ray is an astonishingly beautiful new sports car. It's nearly seven inches longer and two inches lower. Startling new features include Hide-A-Way windshield wipers concealed beneath a power-operated cowl panel, rear deck spoiler, high-backed bucket seats and push-type door opening buttons.

Great performers, too.

Quieter and smoother riding this year, Chevelle and Camaro,

"The Hugger," offer new sports car-type performance—better handling, big engines. Camaro SS has a bulging striped hood that covers your choice of either a 350- or 396-cubic-inch V8. Chevelle SS 396 for '68 has completely new styling, a wider tread, shorter wheelbase, and a twin-domed hood.

More engine efficiency.

Standard on many models with automatic transmission is an ingenious carburetor heater that gives you increased efficiency in cold weather. Standard, also, is a new GM exhaust emission control.

New ventilation system.

Astro Ventilation, a brand-new system of bringing in outside air, comes on Corvette, Camaro and the Caprice Coupe, and is available on many other models.

Proved safety features.

All Chevrolet safety features are continued and you get many new ones such as energy-absorbing front seat backs and side marker lights for '68. Be smart. Be sure. Buy now at your Chevrolet dealer's.
